Sarah has been facilitator of the Dundee Rep Women's singing group (known as Loadsaweeminsingin) for the last three years. She took over as musical director after singing with the group for 5 years. The group is a lively mix of women of all ages and backgrounds who sing a wide range of acapella arrangements from Gospel, Pop, African and Eastern European to traditional Dundee and Scottish songs. Raised on a diet of Gilbert and Sullivan and Rogers and Hammerstein, with a bit of classical music for good measure, Sarah discovered a more relaxed and free way of learning songs and using her voice when she joined Loadsaweeminsingin. Sarah teaches in the oral tradition and welcomes anyone and everyone who enjoys singing and thrills to the sound of harmonies... regardless of how much or little confidence or experience they may have. She aims to make her sessions fun and inclusive.

The workshop is open to anyone who enjoys singing - at any level. Come along and join in.....
